TABLE OF CONTENTS

Editorial Note: The Relative Status of the Negro Population in the United States ........................................... 221

Part 1. A General Introductory Statement

Chapter

I. Census Data: Summary of Types Available, Limitations, and Possibility of Extension .......................... 232

   Robert W. Burgess, Director, U. S. Bureau of the Census

Part 2. The Negro Population in the United States

II. The Growth and Distribution of the Negro Population in the United States ................................. 242

   Preston Valien, Chairman, Department of Social Sciences, Fisk University

III. The Demographic Characteristics of the Negro Population in the United States ........................... 250

   Frank Lorimer, Professor of Sociology, and Dorothy S. Jones, Graduate Student, American University

IV. Natality, Mortality and Growth Prospects of the Negro Population of the United States ............... 255

   Jacob S. Siegel, U. S. Bureau of the Census

V. Marital Status and General Family Characteristics of the Nonwhite Population in the United States .... 280

   G. Franklin Edwards, Assistant Professor of Sociology, Howard University

Part 3. The Relative Economic Status of the Negro in the United States

VI. The Negro in the Labor Force of the United States ......... 297

   Lloyd H. Bailer, Labor Arbitrator and Consultant, New York City

VII. The Employment of Negroes in the United States by Major Occupation and Industry .......................... 307

   John Hope II, Director of Industrial Relations, Race Relations Department, American Missionary Association, Fisk University
VIII. The Negro Farmer ............................................. 322
    Lewis W. Jones, Director of Research, Rural Life Council, Tuskegee Institute

IX. Money Income of Negroes in the United States ............ 333
    George S. Mitchell, Executive Director, and
    Anna Holden, Research Assistant, Southern Regional Council

X. The Relative Status of the Housing of Negroes in the United States ..................... 343
    Robert C. Weaver, Director, Opportunity Fellowships, John Hay Whitney Foundation

Part 4. The Social, Political and Educational Status of Negroes in the United States

XI. A Comparative Study of the Nonwhite and White Institutional Populations in the United States .............. 355
    Henry D. Sheldon, U. S. Bureau of the Census

XII. The Relative Political Status of the Negro in the United States ................................. 363
    Robert E. Martin, Associate Professor of Government, Howard University

XIII. The Relative Status of the Negro in the American Armed Forces ................................. 380
    L. D. Reddick, Chief, Trevor Arnett Library, Atlanta University

XIV. The Relative Educational Attainment of the Negro Population in the United States .................. 388
    Carroll L. Miller, Associate Professor of Education, Howard University

XV. The Negro in the Professions in the United States ....... 405
    Joseph R. Houchins, U. S. Bureau of the Census

XVI. The Relative Enrollment of Negroes in the Common Schools in the United States .................. 416
    Frank A. DeCosta, Dean, School of Graduate Studies, State A. & M. College, Orangeburg, South Carolina
XVII. The Relative Enrollment of Negroes in Higher Educational Institutions in the United States ............... 482

Chas H. Thompson, Dean, Graduate School, Howard University

Part 5. The Relative Status of the Negro Population in the United States
—A Critical Summary

XVIII. The Relative Status of the Negro in the United States .... 442

Ira De A. Reid, Professor of Sociology, Haverford College