TABLE OF CONTENTS

EDITORIAL COMMENT: We Learn What We Live .................................. 367

The Case Against De Facto Segregated Education in the North and West: A Contemporary Case Study .................................. 371

  James A. Tillman, Jr.

Higher Horizons in Southern Elementary Schools .................................. 382

  Wm. F. Brazziel

“Learning How To Learn”: Myth or Reality? .................................. 390

  Ivor Kraft

The Southern Student Movement: Year I .................................. 396

  Martin Oppenheimer

The Negro Colleges in Atlanta .................................. 404

  Glenn Sisk

CURRENT LITERATURE:

REVIEWS:
American Slavery and the Federal Law (Dorsey);
Treatment for the Untreatable Child (Brown);
Liberal Education and Home Economics (Kitrell);
American Race Relations Today: Studies of the Problems Beyond Desegregation (Blake);
Books in Brief (West) .................................. 409

BIBLIOGRAPHY:
Books, Bulletins, Pamphlets, Periodical References and Dissertations (Georgia E. Whitmore) .................................. 421

CURRENT TRENDS IN NEGRO EDUCATION, AND SHORTER PAPERS:

Section A:
A Liberal Education for Junior High School Students in a Culturally Limited Area (Nancy L. Arnez) .................................. 436

Section B:
Prejudice and Interpersonal Expectancies (Dorr Byrne and David Andres) .................................. 441

Section C:
Marcus Garvey: His Opinions About Africa (Charlotte Phillips Fein) .................................. 446

Section D:
A Study of Jamaican Students at Howard University, 1961-62 (Gilbert Antonio Lowe) .................................. 450

Section E:
Reported Knowledge Negro and White College Students Have of Negroes Who Have Passed as White (James E. Conyers and T. H. Kennedy) .................................. 454

INDEX TO VOLUME XXXIII, 1964 .................................. 460