Table of Contents

Guest Editorial
Between a Rock and a Hard Place ........................................ 1
Franklyn G. Jenifer

Focus Articles
Educating and Motivating African American Males to Succeed .... 4
Antoine M. Garibaldi

Academic and Noncognitive Factors Affecting the Retention of Black Men at a Predominantly White University ............... 12
Denice Ward Hood

Islands of Hope: Milwaukee’s African American Immersion
Schools ................................................................. 24
Donald O. Leake and Brenda L. Leake

An Exploratory Analysis of the Effects of Race, Class, and Gender on Student and Parent Mobility Aspirations ........ 30
Daniel G. Solorzano

The American Achievement Ideology and Achievement
Differentials Among Preadolescent Gifted and Nongifted
African American Males and Females ......................... 45
Donna Y. Ford and J. John Harris, III

General Articles
Rethinking the Nature of Multicultural Education: Has it Lost its Focus or is it Being Misused? ................................. 65
P. Rudy Mattai

A Decade of Educational Expansion in Zimbabwe: Causes,
Consequences, and Policy Contradictions .................... 78
Tichatonga J. Nhundu

Extra-School Factors in Achievement, Attainment, and Aspiration Among Junior and Senior High School-Age
African American Youth ............................................ 99
Sylvia T. Johnson
Cover: Yves J. Jeanty, eighth-place finalist in the 1991 Westinghouse Science Talent Search competition, conducted in partnership between Science Service and the Westinghouse Electric Corporation. Jeanty's article, Cytoskeletal Protein Distributions in the Leading Edge of a Cell as an Indicator of Cell Contact Inhibition of Motility, was published in the 1991 Summer Yearbook issue of the JNE. Mr. Jeanty is presently a premedical student at Cornell University. Photograph courtesy of the Westinghouse Corporation.