

Table of Contents

Learning Communities and the Higher Education of African Americans

(Guest Editors: Kimberley E. Freeman and Orlando L. Taylor)

Editor's Comment	183
Ivory A. Tolson
Introduction and Overview	184
Kimberley E. Freeman and Orlando L. Taylor
The Effect of Learning Communities on Achievement in STEM Fields for African Americans Across Four Campuses	190
Orlando L. Taylor, Jill McGowan, and Sharon T. Alston
Evaluating the Impact of a Faculty Learning Community on STEM Teaching and Learning	203
Tori Rhoulac Smith, Jill McGowan, Andrea R. Allen, Wayne David Johnson II, Leon A. Dickson, Jr., Muslimah Ali Najee-ullah, and Monique Peters
Do Learning Communities Enhance the Quality of Students' Learning and Motivation in STEM?	227
Kimberley E. Freeman, Sharon T. Alston, and Duvon G. Winborne
A Model for Establishing Learning Communities at a HBCU in Graduate Classes	241
Bernadine Duncan and Pamela T. Barber-Freeman
The Impact of the Freshman Academy/Learning Communities on Student Progression and Engagement	250
Dorothy Cowser Yancy, Marilyn Sutton-Haywood, Eugene Hermitte, Phyllis Worthy Dawkins, Kelli Rainey, and Frank E. Parker
The Impact of a "Healthy Youth" Learning Community on Student Learning Outcome Measures	264
Karen L. Butler and Phyllis Worthy Dawkins
Instructional Strategies and Learning Preferences at a Historically Black University	271
Deborah H. Haskell and Timothy D. Champion
Powerful Pedagogy: Learning Communities at Historically Black Colleges and Universities	280
Nancy S. Shapiro
Book/Media Review
The Sista' Network: African-American Women Successfully Negotiating the Road to Tenure, by Tuesday L. Cooper.....	288
(Nicole Manns)

Cover: Students at the 2008 Emerging Leaders Series Debate Watch. Photo courtesy of the Congressional Black Caucus Foundation.